

AUTONET MOBILE AVAILABLE NATIONWIDE AT AMAZON.COM

Everyone can purchase the world's first internet service for the car, just in time for Summer road trips

San Francisco, June 22, 2009 – Autonet Mobile today announced availability in Amazon.com's Electronics store at www.amazon.com/electronics. Now, everyone can go online and turn any car into a rolling WiFi hotspot with the world's first internet service for the car. As the summer travel season begins, it has never been easier to extend the internet experience into the car with the hottest new accessory for entertainment and communication.

Better than a DVD player and half the cost of a cell card, Autonet Mobile provides connectivity to every passenger in the vehicle. Families, small business owners, entertainers and professional race car drivers use Autonet Mobile to stay connected and access their favorite internet entertainment and information services while on the road. From road trips to road warriors, Autonet Mobile is perfect for everyone who wants to stay connected to the office from their cars, keep passengers of all ages entertained on road trips, and extend the office and living room experiences into the car.

"Amazon.com expands our reach throughout the United States and adds to our family of distributors," said Sterling Pratz, CEO of Autonet Mobile. "Now, anyone can bring Facebook, YouTube and FlyCast into the car."

Autonet Mobile lets families and mobile executives take the internet with them wherever they go. Passengers can bring all of their own WiFi enabled devices such as laptops, netbooks, Nintendo's DS, Sony's PSP, iPod iTouch or iPhone and other devices on the road. Now children in the back seat can IM, visit Facebook, YouTube or Webkinz while Mom or Dad in the passenger seat checks traffic, weather and the latest score or listens to the game on internet radio.

Autonet Mobile is available at Amazon.com/electronics and qualifies for FREE Super Saver Shipping or Free Two-Day Shipping with Amazon Prime. Monthly service contracts begin at $29.
